FROM TEXAS.

LANCASTER, Dallas Co., Texas,) March 22, 1877.)

The readers of the JOURNAL no doubt remember that in last September, I gave them an account of the advent of the grasshopper, or perhaps more properly, the locust, in this section. After remaining some weeks, they departed—no one knew where, or whether. They left us, however, a legacy in the shape of numerous eggs deposited in the black, waxy mud, which are now, and have been for some time, hatching out by millions. They are lively little fellows, and exhibit a hereditary, marauding disposition; having already commenced nibbling on wheat fields—showing a little respect for the rights of those who sow the wheat, as the Returning Board showed for the rights of the Democratic majorities in Louisiana. Most old settlers assert that in their visitations heretofore, they have left too early in the Spring to do much damage. In regard to their disappearance, various theories have been, and might be advanced. I believe the eminent Texas naturalist, Dr. Edwards Fontaine, says that on one occasion they were all murdered in cold blood by a certain kind of dirt-dauber. Another idea is, that the warm spells in winter causes a premature hatching and the subsequent "Northers" give them such a deep-seated chill that all the eggs suffocate so muchly used in Texas, fail to cure them; consequently, they either shake themselves to death, or die with pulmonary consumption. Another is, that owing to wells and cisterns being closed against them, they go to other parts in search of better running water; and still another opinion is, that on account of the equinoctial winds blowing so fiercely in the Spring, they are unable to retain their foothold and are washed to the Northern plains. Perhaps "Fall-out" whose attainments in Natural History entitle his opinions to credit any where, might throw some light on the subject.

About Women.

Here are a few of the things that men have said for and against women. Hippocrates, the Greek, says, "A woman gives her husband two days of happiness—that on which he marries her, and that on which he buries her." Codrus, a Latin writer, says, "There are fewer stars in heaven than trickeries in woman's heart." Chantfort, the French artist, says, "Marriage follows love, like smoke after fire." Alphonse, Care writes: "The friendship of two women is never more than a plot against a third." Madame de Girardin says: "The rarest thing in France, next to a stupid woman, is a generous one." Shakespeare says: "A woman's fitness comes by fits." Pope's familiar line reads: "Every woman is at heart a rake." Emerson says: "Women are through Claude Lorraine." Rochefoucauld declares: "Women can less easily surmount their coquetry than their passions." Let us take from the mouth of the bitter taste left by the foregoing aloes by a few polite quotations: "There are but two fine things in the world," says Malherbe, "women and roses." Lessing exclaims: "Woman is the masterpiece of the universe." Bourdon says: "The pearl is the image of purity, but woman is purer than pearl." Thackeray writes: "A good woman is the loveliest flower that blooms under heaven." Balzac says: "Even the errors of woman spring from her faith in the good." Voltaire declares: "All the reasoning of men are not worth one sentiment of women." Lamartine asserts that "Women have more heart and more imagination than men." O'way exclaims: "O, woman! lovely woman! Nature made thee to temper man; we had been brutes without you." To which Mark Twain adds: "But for you we would be nothing, for we should not be here."

Improve Your Home.

Spring is the season of the year to adorn and improve one's home. Who that loves home does not wish to make it pleasant and attractive? Every Spring something should be added in the way of trees, shrubs or plants to make it more lovely, to endear it still more to parents and children. Have you shade trees, evergreens, flowering shrubs, roses, climbing plants surrounding the dear old dwelling, to please the eye, attract the singing birds and make it a delightful resort to old and young? If not, you cannot begin too soon to plant them. The season of the year to do it upon us. The money expended in doing it cannot be used to better advantage. [Rural World.]

A Woodstock (Vt.) lady the other day took her little one to a gallery for its picture, and while the artist was busy she was fixing up the child by wetting its face and hair with what she supposed was clear water, but which was a solution of nitrate of silver. After exposure to the air a short time the appearance of the child can be better imagined than described.

There is a child in Pulaski that has a head so transparent that you can read the Southern Republican through it.

Barney Sales who stabbed and robbed Samuel Hall of Samuel's Depot, has been sentenced to six years in the Penitentiary.

Ellis, of the Shelby Scimitar, has seen that ghost, and as we know he never drinks any thing, the thing may be true now.

Thomas J. Young and R. S. Chevis, will commence the publication of the Mt. Sterling Democrat about the middle of this month.

A boat backed up shot another boat harlequin at Louisville last week with a shot gun, inflicting a dangerous though not necessarily a mortal wound.

We learn from the Mt. Sterling Scimitar that Lada Gracel, a thoroughbred cow, imported at a cost of $2,000 having proved to be barren, was sold for beef for $67.

Jerry Griffin, an Irish laborer on the Kentucky river bridge, fell from it a distance of two hundred and seventy feet, and was dashed to pieces on the rocks below.

Five negroes in Scott county, broke 2,331 pounds hemp in one day. Of this quantity one of them broke 556 pounds. The Blue Grass Clipper challenges the world to beat them.

Dr. Henderson has gone to cutting prices with the Doctors. He now delivers the "Girl of the Period" for 50 cents. He never costs less than $10 to deliver any kind of a girl in this country.

The Kentucky Cash Distribution Lottery Seaside Company has gone into bankruptcy. Reported assets $3,000; liabilities $100,000. 15% of the liabilities $13,750. 94 is secured, says the Frankfort Freeman.

The Cynthiana News recently entered on the 27th year of its publication. Like old Bourbon, it improves with age, and though for older than the oldest age of newspapers, it promises to live and improve for many years yet.

The inability of the Ganges to carry on a newspaper store successfully, is again illustrated by the failure of an enterprise of that kind at La Grange. Liabilities $20,000. Assets $13,702. It had not been in operation but a short time.

The Editor of the Bracken Chronicle gets mad and tears his hair because some one on the street said it was a "rascal" of a paper. An editor who fills his paper up with lying to such stuff as that, is decidedly hard up for something to write about.

A negro named Parker Mayo, from Virginia, committed rape on a little nine year old girl, and attempted the same heinous crime on a married lady, both living near Walling. He was arrested, but his claim being tried, and sent to jail, but on his way thither, was taken from the guard by a mob and hung to a tree.

Col. W. G. Terrell, the Covington reporter for the Cincinnati Commercial, has, after a week's trial at Burlington, Boone county, been sentenced to eight years imprisonment in the Penitentiary for the killing of Henry Myers three years ago. This is the third time that Terrell has been tried for the offense. A jury in one of the trials before, gave him seven years, but for some technicality, the verdict was set aside by the Court.

Five dollars a quart or one dollar a plate, is the price of strawberries in New York now.

Twenty cars of silk and tea direct from China and Japan were received in New York from San Francisco, Friday. It only took ten days to make the trip.

A jealous Frenchman in New York threw vitrol in his wife's face to mar her beauty so that she could make no more conquests. He ought to have been hung, but he was not.

After living together fifty-six years, a California man of 86 has sued his wife of 70 for divorce. What a hell those 55 years must have been, or what powers of endurance some people must have!

Alice Wren, an actress from Buffalo, N. Y., was strangled to death by another actress in a fit of jealousy at the Cape of Good Hope recently. The murderess was condemned to death, but subsequently had her sentence commuted to 3 years solitary confinement.

Fifteen years ago a girl of thirteen was married in Virginia, and became a mother before she was fifteen. The little girl, for such it was, grew up, and at the premature age of fourteen also married. She, too, in the course of a year, had another little girl, and now the first mother is, at the youthful age of 28, a grand mother, with just as good a Boaz any girl in the neighborhood.

Girls, don't be afraid to work. Ruth gleaned in the harvest field and got just as good a Boaz any girl in the neighborhood.

A lady who drew a gentleman's dressing-gown at a recent church fair now wishes to draw a good-looking young man to put it in.

A meek boy was trudging along toward a school house the other morning and was met by his schoolmates returning with their books under their arms. A chorus of cat calls and shrieks rent the air, and hats were thrown up and heels kicked ditto. "What's up?" inquired the lone boy. "No school!" howled the mob, "teacher's sick!" and another pean of praise ascended from their united voices as they all turned the corner on the jump.

A rural gentleman who was shown to his room in the Westminister Hotel in New York on Tuesday last said to the porter: "I suppose it's too late to have any washing done?" "Oh, no; you can have it done to-day." "Is that so?" observed the surprised but gratified party from the country. "I didn't know but what you did your washing on Monday. Most people do." [Danbury News.]

The Massachusetts Legislature is examining charges that, in the West-Brook Reform School, refractory boys are stripped naked and lashed, nearly drowned with cold water from a hose, and confined in a "sweat box" until exhausted. The latter is a heated closet, so made that the prisoner in it must maintain a standing posture. It is said that a boy was driven to suicide by such treatment.

The magazine editors find indications of hard times in the increase of manuscripts offered to them for publication. The number offered last year was double what it was two years ago, manuscripts for Harpers' three publications coming in at the rate of 5,000 or 6,000 yearly, while in 1876, Scribner's Monthly received 2,209.

He had been in the habit of making frequent calls on a very agreeable lady of his acquaintance, and on entering her parlor, he said—"Well, Miss Sims, here I am again you see, as regularly as the fever and ague." "Oh! no," she said, very demurely—"that comes only every other day!"

"Where did this baby come from?" asked a little three-year old girl of the nurse who was washing the squalling little stranger. "Why, from heaven, of course," replied the nurse. "Well, if it screamed like that there I don't wonder they sent it off," was the stunning rejoinder.

AFTER dilly dalling for a month, Hayes has summoned up courage enough to order the withdrawal of troops from the State House of South Carolina. Gen. Sherman is entrusted with the execution of the order and at 12 o'clock next Tuesday the province of South Carolina will again attain the dignity of a State. The long and unnecessary delay has operated in a most hurtful manner to the financial and farming interests of the State, but its down throned people are hopeful of the future and received the news of the withdrawal of the military with the most unbounded enthusiasm. The order of withdrawal is mainly due to the strenuous efforts of grand old Wade Hampton, who sought no favor of the President, asked no recognition of himself, but simply demanded in the name of the people that their rights might be vouchsafed to them and that all disputed questions arising, might be settled in their proper manner before the State Courts without the intervention of Federal authority. Chamberlain, the carpet bagger, on the other hand begged and entreated for a retention of the military, knowing that on it, hung his only hope of power. The President like the kind hearted and christian gentleman that he is, tried to appease his wrath by a promise of a Foreign Mission, but up to this time he has not accepted it.

We wish we could give so favorable a report of the condition of affairs in Louisiana. Things remain in statu quo there and are likely to do so till after the meeting of Congress in June. In the meantime a Commission (of whom Gen. Harlan is one of which) has gone to examine into the affairs, as if they were not already thoroughly understood. Hayes will not dare to decide in favor of Nicholls, in that State, for the same infamous Returning Board that counted him in, also said that Pickard was elected. Nicholls' recognition would cost Hayes his office, and the quo warranto suit talked of by Tilden would then be commenced in earnest.

As a gubernatorial candidate Judge Milton J. Durham is looming up prominently all over the State. He has served us well for two terms in the House of Representatives and were this new honor bestowed upon him, we are sure that he would be elected beyond all peradventure, and make a Governor that would do honor to the State. Here is what the Elizabethtown News says about it:

Several of our exchanges have suggested the name of Hon. Milton Jameson Durham in connection with the next Governorship of Kentucky. Better material for a Governor could not be found in the State. We have known Durham from boyhood—ever since we explored sums together under the umbrageous oaks of the little school house at "Durham's cross ground"—and we know what's in him. He would make a Governor of whom every Kentuckian would be proud.

The Municipal Election in Cincinnati on Monday, resulted in the defeat of Mayor G. W. C. Johnson and the entire Democratic ticket on majorities ranging from 1000 to 4000. There are several reasons given for the defeat, among them are: A very light vote given, dissatisfaction of the Irish with some of the Democratic ticket and the considerable number that were detracted from the ranks by voting the Workingmen's ticket. The Enquirer says the election was governed purely by local cliques and angers and has no political significance. Col. Moore is the new Mayor.

The Virginia Legislature having passed several equally as foolish bills, are now hammering away on one to tax liquor saloons at the rate of 1 cent for each drink. Now don't those law makers know, that the Good Templars tell us, that any man that is mean enough to sell whisky, is mean enough to lie? A bell punch a la street car might make it work right though, and if the bill passes, the probability is, that each bar keeper will be supplied with one.

There are those who may have spent some hours of solitude for the welfare of Stearns, who tried so hard to be Governor of Florida, but who was so unceremoniously assisted down and out. Well, Hayes has provided for him as he has for all his faithful followers, by appointing him one of the Commissioners to look after the Hot Springs property. His pay is $10 per day and expenses, which is better, in a financial point of view, than being Governor of the little State of Florida.

KLEINFELDER, (God! what a name) of the Shelby Democrat, is sharp enough to stick in the ground, and occasionally gets in a good one on us, but he has not lost his wisdom teeth yet, or he wouldn't publish that "Fits and Epilepsy" ad. of Ash & Robbins, until he gets the money for it. The firm of Ash & Robbins is a delusion and a snare.

The greatest country that the sun ever shone upon, is shown by a statement of the Secretary of the Treasury, to April 1, to be in debt two billion, seventy-four millions, six hundred and twenty-four thousand, one hundred and twenty-seven dollars. Let's take the Bankrupt law.

C. S. R. R.—The bill authorizing the lease of the C. S. R. R. which has been before the Ohio Legislature ever since it convened and which passed the Senate some months ago, reached the business of the House on Tuesday and shorn of the amendment which authorized the operation of the road by the Trustees for a time, to ascertain the probable profits, was passed by a vote of 60 yeas to 2 nays. As it will now have to go back to the Senate for concurrence and as it is not probable that it will agree to it as changed, it is very sure not to become a law this session.

Col. A. H. Bowman, Collector of Internal Revenue for this district, died at Harrodsburg Sunday. He has been in bad health for some time, and his duties have mainly devolved on his assistant, Mr. R. H. Stoll, who has now been appointed to fill the vacancy occasioned by his death.

The silly report that Ferdinand Wood, together with thirty-five other Democrats, had signed a paper, promising to vote for Hayes, provided the election went to the House, has been refuted by Mr. Wood in a card, denying the existence of such a promise, either in fact or by implication.

The old lady who "believes every thing she sees in print," has gone crazy since the election trying to harmonize the items in the "Current Opinion" column of the Courier-Journal.

Another dam broke in the East—Connecticut this time—great destruction. Always thought New Englanders were the worst dam'd people on earth.

"The poor black man" is happy now. At least his friends don't find it necessary to howl over his woes as solemnly as they did.

ROCKCASTLE COUNTY NEWS.

At Rockcastle, April 4th, 1877.

This is the "month of tears." Mr. Harry Middleton was in town this week.

F. F. Bobbitt, Esq., of your county, was attending the session of our Quarterly Court.

The town has been rather lively for several days—country people have been in, and the merchants look happier.

Come to the Sunday School, everybody, and bring your children. You will find pleasure in passing even a small part of your time talking about holy things.

We failed to receive a striped egg Sunday, but we were unapparently made the sad, and victim of a very ludicrous "April fool."

Wm. Hiest and Jack Adams, Jr., left last week for a trip through the mountains. They are bent on a trading expedition; want to purchase mules, cattle, &c.

Vividly does this season of the year bring to mind memories of our boyhood days, when off in the dewy morn we have, with team ready hitched, reclined on the plow-stock, dozingly waiting till "Aurora waked by the circling hours, with rosy hands unbarred the gates of light," that we might begin the toil of the day, and thus improve each golden moment as it flew.

Quarterly Court, after a session of two days, concluded its labors yesterday, and adjourned. No business of considerable importance was transacted. Quite a number of cases went over to the next term. Nearly the whole time of the Court was occupied in trying the celebrated case of Riddle vs. Pigg. This case involves a question as to the ownership of a hog. The trial resulted in a hung jury, which will necessitate another trial at the next term.

We were pleased to be one of a party of young ladies and gentlemen who visited the Pine Hill Coal Mines one afternoon last week. The afternoon was exactly suited to the occasion. The mine shone beautifully; the breezes were mild and balmy. The young ladies were handsome, charming, brilliant and entertaining; the gentlemen were, of course, in excellent spirits, the roads were in as good condition as could be expected; the horse-back ride was refreshing and invigorating; the Mines were a novelty to most of the party. To sum up—the afternoon passed as swiftly and pleasantly as does a Summer's cloud across the clear, blue sky when 'tis chased by the frolicsome zephyrs.

In 1875 Rockcastle county, by casting her vote in the Democratic State Convention for his Excellency, James B. McCreary, secured his nomination for Governor. Prominent citizens of Madison county told the Rockcastle delegation that when the time came, Madison would do something for Rockcastle. In 1876, Rockcastle gave her vote in the Orangeville Convention for W. B. Smith, of Madison county, for Appellate Judge. She was influenced to do this by repeated promises made by Madison county's best citizens, that Rockcastle county would have no opposition from Madison in the race for Senator this year. These promises were made verbally and in writing. They were made repeatedly—but Madison goes back on her promises, and proposes to gobble up the Senatorship. Such is life.

One morning last week a young fellow stepped into the store of Jas. E. Vowels, at this place, and presented Vowels an order, purporting to be from Willis Adams, (a farmer near town), directing Vowels to furnish "this young gentleman" with a suit of clothes worth $20. The fellow was a total stranger to Vowels, and the latter, who is a shrewd business man, rather "smelt a mouse." He directed the young man to wait a moment till he could step out to get some heavy wrapping-paper. Once outside he went to a neighboring merchant, and compared the order with others and genuine orders from Adams. The comparison proved the order to Vowels to be a forgery. Vowels hastened back to the store, but the stranger had vanished. Esquire Marshal Moore, on being informed of the facts, issued a warrant for his arrest, which was placed in the hands of the jailer, and instant pursuit was made. The officer captured his man at the River. He was brought back, and the case was investigated the next day. It resulted in his being required to give bond in the amount of $200 to appear at the next term of the Circuit Court, in default of which he went to jail. He is 17 or 18 years of age, and his name is Edward Harman. During his trial he gave evidences of mental imbecility, and after his incarceration in jail these evidences increased until Sunday, when his physician pronounced that he was insane. On yesterday his father and mother arrived here from Whitley county. They procured a writ of habeas corpus, which was made returnable before his Honor, Judge McClure. After hearing the testimony relative to the alleged insanity, the Judge decided that the prisoner was a lunatic, and delivered him into the custody of his father, who will take him home as soon as his condition will allow.

THE FOUND SOCIETY took place as advertised, but resulted in more of the pound than the sociable. An important meeting on the same evening greatly cut down the attendance; but the packers were all first-class order, and went ready to the lively tune of the auctioneer. Nineteen dollars was the sum realized. The Christian Aid Society have made many hundreds of dollars by various little droppings of water, that will eventually make the mighty ocean of benevolence.

On Thursday, Wm. McCoy, who made application for bail, was refused by the Court and remanded back to jail amid touching demonstrations of grief from his friends.

The fishing season may be said to have fairly opened. The gentlemen report very successful efforts during the past week.

On Sunday there was great religious excitement on the borders of one of our suburban lakes. The numerous converts of the last colored revival were plunged beneath the turbid waves amid ecstatic hal-lalujahs and dolorous chantings. It might not be in-appropriate to wish that the zealous searthy divines may eventually impress the eighth commandment upon their flock. A fine game chicken suddenly disappeared from the poultry yard of Mr. Richard Burnside one night recently. Another family had a supply of fresh meat stolen, and were forced to breakfast upon the salt of the land.

Mrs. Sarah J. Bliss has again been here in the interest of Appleton's Condensed Encyclopedia. The work is in four volumes.

The Rev. Z. T. Smith spent Saturday and Sunday in Lancaster, exerting himself in several charitable causes. A part of his work is to establish, upon a permanent basis, the Odd Fellows' Mutual Life Insurance Institution. On Sunday morning and evening he preached upon the cause of missions, soliciting contributions in the form of annuities. He gave interesting statistics of the establishment and progress of various missions.

We were blessed with exquisite moonlight evenings during the early part of the week. The "lunatic"ulations" of the guitar accorded well with the poetry of the hour.

Our neighbors will please remember the performance set for Saturday night next. Mrs. Jarley will be found exceedingly amusing, and the Rainbow will furnish several sweet melodies. A charming tableau will conclude the evening, and one or two solos will doubtless vary the programme.

Numerous piles of burning brush indicate that the husbandman and landscape gardeners are at work.

Not a great while ago, a family, consisting of the mother and several children, came to town in a destitute condition. It is to the credit of one of our young gentlemen that he secured a lodging for the homeless party in one of our public halls, and, from his own purse, provided supper and breakfast for them.

The large store-room under the Town Hall, so long vacant, is being fitted up for a supply of goods, by one of our old merchants.

MR. DANIEL F. BEATTY, manufacturer and proprietor of the Beatty Piano and Beatty's celebrated Golden Tongue Parlor Organs, Washington, N. J., is certainly a very reasonable and generous man to transact business with. He makes this very fair statement, as follows: "If the instrument does not prove satisfactory after a trial of five days after receiving it, the purchaser is to return it to me, and I will pay freight charges both ways." This is certainly an exceeding, generous, and safe manner in which to transact business with him. He warrants his instruments for six years. See his advertisement.

SCARCITY OF MONEY.—There is no doubt but the present condition of all kinds of business and industry is fearfully depressed, and it becomes every family to look carefully to their expenses. Winter is coming on when children are liable to Croup, Whooping Cough, etc. Coughs and Colds will prevail everywhere, and Consumption, with other throat and lung diseases, will carry off many. These diseases are expensive, and we would advise our people to use BROWN'S GREAT PEPPERMINT CURE. It has never failed. One bottle at 75 cents will keep your whole family well during the winter. Two doses will relieve any case. Sold in all towns in the United States, and by your Druggists, Bolton & Stagg.

FRANK LEBLANC'S Popular Monthly for April has made its appearance, and with it come illustrations of a most varied and interesting character. Here we have the ladies of the White House from Martha Washington down to Lucy Webb Hayes, all about the famous Tower of London, Pine Forest Industries; Southern Scenes; Manufacture of Indian Shaws, and a host of other subjects, besides entertaining stories and instructive information on many popular subjects, poetry, wit, humor, etc., etc., from the pen of celebrated authors. It is certainly the cheapest and one of the most thorough magazines in the world. $2.50 to FRANK LEBLANC, 527 Pearl Street, New York, will secure a copy of the Monthly, postpaid, for one year.

MISS LUCY BUTTERFIELD has returned from Louisville and invites her friends and customers to give her a call at the Establishment of John H. Craig.

THE Medical Association of Kentucky, was in session three days of this week at Louisville. Drs. S. P. Craig and P. P. Trueheart, represented the fraternity in this vicinity.

You can find at the Millinery Establishment of John H. Craig, styles and Patterns from the most fashionable Establishments in the South Street, Louisville, selected by Miss Lucy Butterfield.

TRAY Price of Clothiers, N. B. Tevis Esq., left for the city yesterday. We did not ascertain whether he went to have his wedding suit made or to bring another stock of Spring goods.

ANOTHER new line of hats has been received this week by Hayden Bros. Any one in search of a pretty and durable hat for a little money, would consult his own interest by going there first.

LECTURE.—Rev. J. W. Pratt, of the Central University at Richmond, will give a free lecture at the Female College Chapel to-morrow (Saturday) night. The public are cordially invited to attend.

GENTLEMEN in need of any thing in the Gent's Furnishing line, such as shirts, slips, handkerchiefs, gloves, cravats, etc., can find all they want, of superior quality and at low figures, at Hayden Bros.

PARACHUTE.—Rev. G. D. Archibald, D.D., will preach at the Presbyterian Church to-morrow (Saturday) morning and evening, and Sunday at 11 o'clock. After the sermon on Sunday, the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered.

MR. JOS. SEVERANCE, of Severance & Dudder, went to Cincinnati this week to replenish their stock of goods. This is the second trip for the same purpose this Spring, which shows the great amount of goods that popular house is disposing of.

THE fashions may change as they will, but the styles still hold their place in the taste of the ladies. The styles this Spring are the prettiest we ever saw, and those at Hayden Bros., particularly so. They look as fresh and sweet as a daisy, and sell for 10 cents a yard.

The application of Mr. George, who recently opened a hotel at McKinney's Station for a license to sell liquor by retail, was refused by the County Court on Monday, on the grounds of the great opposition to it by the people of that vicinity. An appeal was taken to the Circuit Court.

The best shoe we ever saw, in quality of leather and manufacture, can be had at Hayden Bros., at a price but little over half that which a home shoemaker would charge you, and we guarantee that they will last as long and look as well as any you could get from the best shoe maker in the State.

MARRIAGES.—John W. Estes and Miss Elizabeth J. Leonard were married yesterday. The bride was of the tender age of 15. John Forbes, of Madison, wanted to be sure of having the proper documents in time, so, on Monday last, he got his license to be married to Miss Elizabeth A. Mobley, next Thursday the 12th.

DIED.—At Columbia, Mo., on the 15th of March last, Mr. Simon Engleman, a brother of our countryman, John Engleman, in the 74th year of his age. He had been on a visit of several months to his relatives in this county, and after leaving here on the 7th of March, was taken suddenly ill and died before reaching his home.

MR. M. E. DAVIES left on Tuesday, for Cincinnati, to lay in her Spring and Summer Stock of Millinery. Her taste in selecting from the various styles and fashions is recognized by every body in this vicinity, and her establishment here, is therefore, a most popular one, for those desiring a "love of a bonnet" or a "beautiful hat."

PREJUDICE CONVENTIONS.—The Democratic Chairman of each precinct in the county, will call a Convention at 2 o'clock to-morrow (Saturday) at which voters may express their preference for both the Senatorial and the Legislative aspirants. Come out and show your hand. The nominations will be made at a County and District Convention at Stanford, on next Monday, the 9th.

A CAR load of the hardest looking individuals that could be gotten together, passed up the road this week returning to their homes. They had been with rats of rats to Nashville. All of the Turkish Bath Soap, that Campbell could bring to this market, would not get off half the mangle that covered the faces and bodies of those men. Yet, they seemed to be as happy as the happiest.

LUNATIC.—Wm. Collier, from near Hustonville, was tried before Judge Lytle, on a writ de lunatico inquiring, on Tuesday, and adjudged a lunatic. He is about 32 years old, and was formerly from Garrard. He has been married but lived unhappily with his wife, from whom he parted a year ago. This, together with hard drink, is supposed to be the cause of his unfortunate condition. He was sent to the Anchorage Asylum.

THE C. S. R. R. iron bridge across Pittsburg creek, in Putkai, was put up by the Louisville Bridge and Iron Company in just two weeks. This Company always does its work quickly, promptly and substantially, and is known as one of the most reliable Companies in their line in the United States. The track of the C. S. R. R. can now be laid two miles further, and they will again be stopped by the Dry creek ravine. An iron viaduct is to be put across by the Chicago Bridge Company, who has been awarded the contract. After that is passed there will be no hindrance to the track for a number of miles.

You will find Briggs & Bros., D. M. Ferry & Co's, and Detroit Seed Co's, Garden Seeds, at the P. O. Store.

REV. G. O. BARNES arrived from a very prosperous meeting at Glasgow Thursday, and will preach at the Court House here at 3 o'clock Sunday.

We have heard that the Tract Society has been requested to send an Agent to the West End to distribute Alms in order that the citizens may know when Sunday comes.

HAYDEN BROS. received their Spring Clothing this week, nearly 500 suits, and they are really excellent. You can get a suit there for what a Tailor would charge to make you one after you had bought the cloth.

If the ladies wish to look at something to really charm them, they should go to Hayden Bros. and call for those white and striped home-combed counterpanes. They have a large assortment, and sell them extremely cheap.

MISS LUCY BUTTERFIELD informs her friends that she has had great advantages in selecting Pattern Hats and Bonnets this season. She has styles that only the Fourth Street Milliners have which she could not find in the Wholesale Houses.

RED QUILT.—We were shown this week by Mrs. J. E. Portman, one of the most beautiful silk embroidered quilts that could be imagined. It was made by Miss Welch, of Nicholasville, and bears any thing of the kind on exhibition at the Centennial.

MR. J. P. HALEY, who removed from Putkai to Texas last year, has become tired of the country and is now returning to his old home, traveling all the way in a one. He has met with many mishaps since he left, chief among them being an accidental shot that has lamed him for life. After all "there's no place like home."

THE SENATORIAL ASPIRANTS.—At the conclusion of Judge Durham's speech, Messrs. Bruce and McFerran, the Senatorial candidates, made short addresses, each urging his peculiar claims for the nomination, and making the fairest promises if elected. Their remarks were well received, and the general regret seemed to prevail that a choice had to be made between gentlemen whose honors are so even.

MRS. P. W. AND LOUISE M. T. WOOD will close their two week session of writing school to-morrow night, and will leave early next week for Harrodsburg. They are glad to know that they have succeeded to their expectations here, for they are most deserving ladies and earnest devotees to the useful vocation. We bespeak for them a kind reception in Harrodsburg, and trust that our friend Nield will assist them in getting a school.

SHORT.—As Tim Dudder, son of James J. Dudder, was returning from school here Wednesday night to his home in the country, some unknown scoundrel ordered him to halt. He did so and threw up his hands, when he was fired at, the ball taking effect in his hand and ranging downward, lodged in his wrist. Dudder has no idea who the would be assassin is, as he ran off as soon as he fired and he did not feel in much humor to follow him.

ELDERMENT.—John Smith Harris has for some time past looked with covetous eyes on the fair features of George George's wife, who lives in the village of Halifax, not far from Wayneburg. His tender glances were met, and his love reproached, so it only remained for the erring pair to retreat from the frowns of the lawful husband, and steep their souls in the bliss of illicit love. This had not been discovered in what locality they intend pitching their tents. Meanwhile, Mr. George takes the matter philosophically, and has made no effort to capture them, as he is no doubt, glad of the riddance of such a wife.

AFTER MANY DAYS.—Twelve years ago Charles Vocum, then a citizen of this county, killed James Gilman, who lived near above the King's Mountain Tunnel now is. The deadly fray commenced in a trivial dispute, and ended as above narrated. Since that time, Vocum has been a fugitive, and after many hardships and vicissitudes, settled down near Carrollton, in this State, married, and now with a wife and five children to share his sorrow and disgrace, he has at last come to judgment. Mr. E. B. Caldwell, who was Sheriff of this county at the time of the murder, learned a short time ago of the whereabouts of Vocum. He started at once for Carrollton, and, assisted by the Sheriff of that county, arrested Vocum, and brought him to jail here. We understand there was a reward offered of $300 for his arrest.

JUDGE DURHAM.—This distinguished gentleman was here according to appointment, Monday, and in a most excellent speech of an hour and a half, told his admiring constituents all about the doings of the late session of Congress; explained his actions during the session and gave the motives that prompted him on the important questions presented. He reviewed the depressed financial condition of the country and attributed it to the outgrowth of Radical misrule and extravagance. Told how earnestly the Democrats of the 44th Congress had labored to reduce the country's growing National debt, and how they had been successful to the amount of about $90,000,000. He spoke at length on all the important issues and at last came to the Electoral bill. He had opposed it and although petitioned by men from all over the district to vote in favor of it, he was confident that he was in a better position to judge of its merits or demerits than his petitioners, and had acted and voted as his conscience and the Constitution dictated, against the bill. But after it had passed, mainly by the vote of the Democrats, he was for carrying it out in good faith, even though he knew that they were swindled and cheated out of their true rights. It was a contract, and as a true born Kentuckian, he stood by it and opposed every filibustering action. He had no confidence in the fair promises of Hayes or of Fremont, and was sure if he ever does a good thing it will be a mistake. The time when he could have immortalized himself has passed, but the next Congress would have something to say about that army business by refusing to pass an appropriation. In conclusion, he hoped that his course was approved by his constituents and expressed a desire for no greater merit of praise than the plaudits "well done thou good and faithful servant." Judge Durham was frequently applauded, and it was plainly evident that he had gained upon even the great favor in which he is universally held.

ABOUT THE LADIES.—Miss Amanda Cobb and Nannie White, accompanied by their friend Miss Maggie Hall, spent several days at their home in Madison, this week. Miss Lucy Butterfield, of Louisville, arrived on Monday, and now resides over the Millinery Establishment of John H. Craig. Miss Marie Barnes returned from Glasgow, Tuesday. Miss Jennie Duncan, of Lancaster, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Richard C. Warren. Miss Sallie Welch, of Nicholasville, is visiting Miss Cynthia Carson. Miss Belle Livingston is spending a few days with relatives here. Miss Ruth DePaul, of Shelby City, was a guest of Miss Jennie Carson last Monday. Misses Jean Dickerson and Annie Buchanan are visiting Mrs. A. A. McKinney. Miss Mary Myers arrived from Georgia last evening. Miss Lucy Hocker, of Rob Roy, Arkansas, also arrived yesterday train. Miss Lettie Hale has returned from Danville for a brief visit to her home.

A CALL.—The usual sombre appearance of this office was transformed for a short time on Wednesday evening to an enchanted castle, wherein Fairies flitted to and fro. The countenances of the boys, that generally were shadowed low, because they were not home rich enough to forget the necessity of work, soon beamed with their sweetest smiles and even the dead, who are ever near on an occasion of pleasure, whether in a printing office or elsewhere, clapped his hands with joy and could scarce contain himself with delight. Now what do you suppose occasioned all these smiles and demonstrations? Why, the presence of a couple of young ladies who for comeliness of form and feature are not excelled here or anywhere else on this broad territory. We refer of course to Misses Meola Simpson and Jeanie Pearl Carson.

DROPPED DEAD.—Daniel Manuel, an old man of 65 or 70 years of age, who lived out near Hall's Gap, came to town last Saturday, and as usual, got drunk. He walked around a good deal and while it was observed that he was much under the influence of liquor, he had been known to get a great deal drunker than he then was. About 7 or 8 o'clock at night, the stupefying effects of the whiskey began to operate on him and he fell asleep in a chair in front of Elmore's store. No special notice was given him, it was supposed that he was only sleeping. About half-past nine, it was discovered by the young men who were going to care for him for the night, that his hands were very cold, and closer examination revealed the fact that he was dead. A jury was immediately summoned by Coroner John M. Hiett, and at half-past ten an inquest was held and a verdict of death produced by intemperance was rendered. It could not be ascertained how long he had been dead, but it is supposed from the stiffness of his joints that it must have been some time. The body was taken after the inquest and laid out in the County Court room, and on the following day his friends were notified of the death, when he was taken to his home and buried.

THE TRUSTEES RISE AND EXPLAIN.—Mr. Editor: For the reason that the article which appeared in your issue of last week might be taken to reflect on the present Board of Trustees, we offer the following scrap of history taken from the records of the Board of Trustees at their meeting on the 11th day of April, 1874: "The following Ordinances were proposed and adopted by a vote of 4 to 3: "That each member of the Board of Trustees of the Town of Stanford, Ky., shall be allowed the sum of $2 per meeting for each regular meeting he attends, as compensation for his services. "That any member of the Board who fails to answer to his roll call at the regular meeting of the Board, shall be fined the sum of $2 for each failure unless he presents a lawful excuse." Those who voted in the affirmative on the above, were Messrs. Bruce, Cudiff, Elmore and Pendleton—those who voted in the negative were Messrs. Miller, McKinney and Penny.

As "Tax Payer" is no doubt aware that to secure the service of any good citizen of the town as Trustee, is a work of difficulty, as outside of the small pay as allowed by a form of Board, the honest citizen would be a liberal disbursement of the money should any thing in the management of the affairs of the town displease any citizen, whether that particular matter was a personal and not of general interest to the community. And as an election for Trustees takes place on Saturday, "Tax Payer" may arrange his ticket and run on the question, and he may be assured that the present Board will not interfere with him in any matter that pertains to the general good of the community. BOARD.

LINCOLN COUNTY NEWS.

Cash Orchard, April 4th, 1877.

Some time ago a couple of young men, Messrs. Rigby and Perkins, were arraigned before his honor, A. Carson, P. J. T. C. O., on a breach of peace warrant and fined respectively $5 and $20 and cost. This should have learned them a lesson. But no. They did not seem to take warning as they concluded to complete their spree by shooting twice through the house of Henry Buford, a colored man, of quite a civil disposition, who, perhaps, had never done either of them any harm or injury.

Saturday night, some unknown person or persons, stole from the country premises of Mr. John Buchanan, a horse, and coming down to Mr. G. W. James, his nearest neighbor, took from his pasture a horse belonging to a young man working for Mr. H. Singleton's corn crib, about one and a half barrels corn, on the same night, Watts Chapel neighborhood, by the assistance of the Lord, brought forth another Bray. It's a boy and weighs 9 pounds.

Saturday, Mr. Bruce, our candidate for the Senate, sold his 3-year old "Betsey Bland," to Capt. T. G. Moore, for the handsome figure of $400.

Eight baptisms at the River Sunday afternoon, the result of a series of meetings held at Preachersville Church. R.

Mudonville, April 3, 1877.

Suffering from a severe and protracted paroxysm of gardening, I could well plead for exemption were this a task. But the opportunity to illustrate my love for the Journal is too good to be lost. Disclaiming any and all membership in the mutual admiration organization that has projected "The Herald of Fame," I still desire to hold a weekly chat with you and your readers.

COUNTY COURT DAY.—Monday last was County Court, and the weather being particularly fine, a large crowd gathered. There was a considerable falling off in the number of cattle offered, but all that were offered, sold at advanced prices. The following is the report of the auctioneer:

Capt. J. M. Higgins—Good day and considerable inquiry for stock. Prices better than a month ago. About 150 head of cattle offered, all common, of which I sold 25 calves at $21.50; 20 heifers at $19.70; 8 do. at $14.75; 11 calves at $10.10; 11 steers at $19.90; 15 calves at $11.15; 1 cow and calf $28; 1 do. $32; 5 dry cows at $24; 1 pair mules $225; 1 do. $150. Pung horses, few offered, and sold at from $40 to $85.

Capt. H. T. Bush—About 150 head scrub cattle on the market. Prices much advanced, and sales quick and lively. I sold 18 yearlings at $28; 18 calves at $18; 8 heifers at $15.15; 18 calves at $15.20; 6 head, common 3-year old cattle at $28.55; 2 heifers at $17.50; 1 milch cow $30; 11 small calves at $10.50; 1 pair mules $154; 1 3-year old horse $70; 1 2-year old colt $65.10 horse $40.

HORSE SHOW DAY.—Some fifteen or twenty stallions were on exhibition here Monday, and while some of them looked rather the worse for wear on account of the lack of grooming and attention, the majority presented a creditable appearance. For an hour the interest manifested in the show was intense, the streets being lined with spectators from Somerset Street to some distance below the Presbyterian Church. Prominent among the fine animals on exhibition was Robert McAllister's blood bay, Almont, Jr., an Abdallah horse of fine carriage and magnificent proportions. Gray Sino, the handsome iron gray belonging to A. M. Feland, presented an attractive appearance and was much admired. Hero of Thunders, belonging to Jno. B. Swapp, Jr., of Danville, an inbred Hamiltonian horse, of superior ancestral record, was a model of symmetry and beauty. He is a bright bay and one of the most perfect horses on exhibition. G. A. Peyton exhibited his coal stallion, Wade Hampton, a horse of good form and movements. Thos. Traylor's Mambrino Prince, a beautiful black, created considerable enthusiasm by a remarkable exhibition of his trotting powers and was a decided favorite. Mambrino Starlight, a rich dark bay, owned and driven by T. L. Crow, was the occasion of much remark, he being noted as the sire of some of the finest colts in this region. John Baughman showed his Bourbon Bay, a very large four year old black. Sam. Baughman drove his dark bay, Christian Boy. W. G. Saunders' Beecher presented a good appearance and trotted well. A. M. Hiett rode his celebrated Joe Stoner. Hubble's black saddle horse, Denmark, showed some excellent saddle qualities. Captain Walker, a beautiful Canadian black, owned by Jas. P. Bailey, came in for a large share of admiration. Jno. Helm's American Boy showed well. Smith Powell's Abdallah, Shelton's thoroughbred Billie, and Williams' Buford, Jr., &c., &c., were also on exhibition. The show was a success and was of great interest to lovers of fine stock.

The current of life is still unruined in the Occident. No tragic event nor startling sensation disturbs our beatific repose. Sometimes we have a momentary expectation that something is about to happen but it don't. Thus, last Friday night three men took a horse from the stable of Mr. Sharp just above town, all mounted it and left. They were seen by a negro boy who informed Sharp of the larceny. Sharp took a horse and a shot gun and started in pursuit. He pressed the chase so closely that the thieves abandoned the horse, switched out on a side track, and escaped. Again, a few weeks since a fine looking and well dressed stranger appeared suddenly on our streets, but was soon recognized by one of the citizens who accosted him as Mr. Williams. The stranger requested that his true name should not be disclosed, as he was on a secret mission, acting as attorney in State affairs, and traveling as Col. Bentley. In the course of three or four days it was whispered that he was trying to obtain an interview with a young lady some 12 or 13 years of age, who is here at school. The gentleman by whom he had been recognized, then informed him that he would counsel no longer. The Colonel resented this inhospitality by leaving town. In a few days we learned that he was wanted, by parties in Whitley. Thus another case was spoiled.

On Thursday last, Will B. Jones, Esq., died at this place. His burial took place on Friday, conducted by the Masons, of which order he had long been a member. I hold you a portion of the action of his Lodge—omitting the preamble and formal resolutions:

Resolved, That we unite with his bereaved family and kindred in a sympathetic recognition of our common loss, and although death has taken a steady course in our midst, his memory will remain with us as far as gratified in evergreen freshness.

That we tender to the widow and orphans assurance of our sincerest sympathy, and that in testimony of our appreciation of the worth of the departed, we will in a boy attend his funeral, and wear the usual badge of mourning for a period of thirty days.

James B. McKinney, on his way from church on Sunday, had his buggy overturned and dived on a very narrow fall in the turnpike near Yowell's barn. The place is very dangerous—the width of the road being greatly reduced by the falling away of the crest of the culvert. Mr. Caldwell Woods and his little son were in the vehicle with Mr. McK. and the boy is said to be cut pretty badly on the head and face. The others escaped without injury.

FAIRPLAY, APRIL 3, 1877.

Weather fine to-day, and fishing all the go. But, since the roughest month of all the year has past and gone, and dewy April has come on to weep for her departure, 'twere vain to hope for a succession of bright days—therefore, we ought to "make hay while the sun shines," ere the coming of the shades and shadows.

The "Perihelion" adjourned for the season on Saturday night, March 31st. This last meeting was held at the residence of Mr. Jas. Crow, and we fear that language appeared all of us were to attempt a rehearsal of the many pleasures realized on that evening—the myriads of literary gems that we gathered—or, of the kind and cordial manner in which we were received and entertained. There was a large majority of the membership and neighborhood friends present, also visitors from Danville, Lancaster, Turnersville and Stanford. In short "everything was lovely, and went as merry as a marriage bell." This "Literary Society" has been very pleasant, as well as very beneficial to our young people, and the regret attending the dissolution are alleviated by the assurance that "it is only for a season." For we did not die—no, were we dying; only resting now to rise again with redoubled energies in September.

A large party of young ladies and gentlemen from this, and the adjoining neighborhoods, contemplate making that long anticipated "trip to the Towers" on Saturday, 7th. Should there be no "Mischief" counted in on that eventful day to participate in the joys and benefits of the occasion—remember, one and all, that we wish you a pleasant trip and a safe return, "with out the loss of a single soul." But, above all, we wish that a certain jocular, gallant of your number may be heard to whistle back unceasingly of "the girl I left behind me." MISCHIEF.
